DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-4, 7, 8 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Krueger et al. (USPN 5470524).

Krueger teaches a preform comprising at least two members which have been friction welded to form an elongate weld which has been machined (col 2 lines 26-42). It is noted that the particular welding steps during the linear friction welding process do not further limit the finished preform product. At least one member is subjected to heat treatment (col 5 lines 31-37). At least three members are joined (figure 2). It is also noted that a preform with a longitudinal weld can be formed by other welding methods such as laser and arc welding that would have the same structure and similar properties.

3. Claims 1-5, 7 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Walker et al. (USPN 6219916 B1).

Walker teaches a preform comprising at least two members which have been friction welded to form an elongate weld which has been machined (col 4 line 62 – col 5 line 38 and col 8 lines 9-18). It is noted that the particular welding steps during the linear friction welding process do not further limit the finished preform product. A relief groove (170) is formed between contact surfaces (figure 8). At least three members are joined (figure 4 and col 3 lines 16-50). It is also noted that a preform with a longitudinal weld can be formed by other welding methods such as laser and arc welding that would have the same structure and similar properties.

4. Claims 1-4, 6, 7, 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Norris et al. (USPN 6669447 B2).

Norris teaches a preform comprising at least two members which have been friction welded to form an elongate weld which has been machined. Parts are subjected to heat treatment after bonding (col 5 lines 1-4 and col 6 lines 45-50). It is noted that the particular welding steps during the linear friction welding process do not further limit the finished preform product. Parts are cleaned prior to bonding (col 2 lines 30 and 31). It is also noted that a preform with a longitudinal weld can be formed by other welding methods such as laser and arc welding that would have the same structure and similar properties.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-10 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Brownell et al. (USPN 6524072 B1), Collot et al. (USPN 5551623), Gillbanks et al. (USPN 5366344), Trask et al. (USPN 5865364), Slattery (USPN 6779708 B2) and Amos et al. (USPN 6022194).
7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
